8. Why would being a social worker be a good job to do?
because you can make a difference in people's lives
because they help families and care for them because they get to help people that are incapable to look after themselves
because you help people and its a fun job to do because you would be able to help change peoples lives for the better.
Because you would be able to help people that need to and to help them to come to terms with their past.
Being a social worker should be a great job as helping people to overcome the many problems that life may bring is challenging and very rewarding !! Knowing you have and can help people makes you feel alot better and you mayv look at life in a different perspective.
help people
i hav been with socials workers,,has i hav had probllems myself,,but the one i had,,found her rude,,and did not want to listin to me,,,,so ,,my xperance hasnt been good,,but am shore there r good out there
I know mine were always really helpful, caring and a person to turn to in times of need. i think these are all important.
I think that being a social worker wuld be very rewarding as u help people with all kinds of difficulties in their lives and help as much as possible to do what they kan to make life better for u. going home at nite just knowin that u helped owt sumwan that really needs it and just the fact that u helped and help to improve sumwans life and make a difference, and the joys of not knowin but looking forward to what the next day may bring. completed by nicola ferguson.
I would never want to have tht as a job their polices are o wrong+should be seriously lookd@+put corect.
it would be a good job because they get to support families when they need it the most and they can help give advice on how a family can work together to get their relationships back on track
It would be good because u help parents with children that have no other family members to turn to for support .
It would be very rewarding.
It's only a good job for those who want to be a social worker, who want to help children, young people and families live a better more wealthier life ok, if you want to work with children and have them change every week, two week or if your lucky a month well then social work is the job for you.
So people who are homeless don't have to live on the streets.
The satisfaction of doing something worth while for those people who need help.
To be a social worker means that children out there are at much less risk of harm danger and neglect, help bring familys toghater and help them throw there problems, people some times slag off thear social worker but if they was no social workers, where would we be?, the world be a world would not care for children the world is still is hard but with social workers and other people help like all of us we can stop the pain to children and bring happyness to the children that need it. And the familys. (we should say thank them more)
to help children
To help childrens voices to be heard.
u can help change there lives and give them support and help to bring them of drink and drugs. bring family's closer toghter and build freind ship's and bond's.make positive relationship

You could help make a difference to some peoples lives and you would feel your job was worthwhile to other people not just your self

You will be making a difference in someones life by either bringing their families together or helping them solve problems.

You would have the chance to work with people to make their lives better and ease them through the difficult circumstances that they are in.

2. "I am" is "Female"

8. Why would being a social worker be a good job to do?
because you can make a difference in people's lives
becasue they help families and care for them because they get to help people that are incapable to look after themselves because you would be able to help change peoples lives for the better.
Because you would be able to help people that need to and to help them to come to terms with their past.
Being a social worker should be a great job as helping people to overcome the many problems that life may bring is challenging and very rewarding !! Knowing you have and can help people makes you feel alot better and you may look at life in a different perspective.
I know mine were always really helpful, caring and a person to turn to in times of need. i think these are all important.
I think that being a social worker wuld be very rewarding as u help people with all kinds of difficulties in their lives and help as much as possible to do what they kan to make life better for u. going home at nite just knowin that u helped owt sunwan that really needs it and just the fact that u helped and help to improve sumwans life and make a difference, and the joys of not knowin but looking forward to what the next day may bring. completed by nicola ferguson.
I would never want to have tht as a job their polices are o wrong+should be seriously lookd@+put corect.
it would be a good job because they get to support families when they need it the most and they can help give advice on how a family can work together to get their relationships back on track
It would be good because u help parents with children that have no other family members to turn to for support .
To be a social worker means that children out there are at much less risk of harm danger and neglect, help bring famiyls togather and help them throw there problems, people some times slag off thear social worker but if they was no social workers, where would we be?, the world be a world would not care for children the world is still is hard but with social workers and other people help like all of us we can stop the pain to children and bring happyness to the children that need it. And the familys. (we should say thank them more)
to help children
To help childrens voices to be heard.
You will be making a difference in someones life by either bringing their families together or helping them solve problems.

2. "I am" is "Male"

8. Why would being a social worker be a good job to do?
because you help people and its a fun job to do
i hav been with socials workers,,has i hav had probllems myself,,but the one i had,,found her rude,,and did not want to listin to me,,,,so ,,my xperance hasnt been good,,but am shore there r good out there
It would be very rewarding.
It's only a good job for those who want to be a social worker, who want to help children, young people and families live a better more wealthier life
ok, if you want to work with children and have them change every week, two week or if your lucky a month well then social work is the job for you.
So people who are homeless don't have to live on the streets.
The satisfaction of doing something worth while for those people who need help.
u can help change there lives and give them support and help to bring them of drink and drugs. bring family's closer togther and build freind ship's and bond's.make positive relationship
You could help make a difference to some peoples lives and you would feel your job was worthwhile to other people not just your self
You would have the chance to work with people to make their lives better and ease them through the difficult circumstances that they are in.

1. "I am:" is "17 to 19"

8. Why would being a social worker be a good job to do?
because you would be able to help change peoples lives for the better.
Being a social worker should be a great job as helping people to overcome the many problems that life may bring is challenging and very rewarding !! Knowing you have and can help people makes you feel alot better and you mayv look at life in a different perspective.
i hav been with socials workers,,has i hav had promblems myself,,but the one i had,,found her rude,,and did not want to listin to me,,,so ,,my xperance hasnt been good,,but am shore there r good out there
I know mine were always really helpful, caring and a person to turn to in times of need. i think these are all important.
I think that being a social worker wuld be very rewarding as u help people with all kinds of difficulties in their lives and help as much as possible to do what they kan to make life better for u. going home at nite just knowin that u helped owt sumwan that really needs it and just the fact that u helped and help to improve sumwans life and make a difference, and the joys of not knowin but looking forward to what the next day may bring. completed by nicola ferguson.
it would be a good job because they get to support families when they need it the most and they can help give advice on how a family can work together to get their relationships back on track
It's only a good job for those who want to be a social worker, who want to help children, young people and families live a better more wealthier life
ok, if you want to work with children and have them change every week, two week or if your lucky a month well then social work is the job for you.
The satisfaction of doing something worth while for those people who need help.
To be a social worker means that children out there are at much less risk of harm danger and neglect, help bring familys togethar and help them throw there problems, people some times slag off thear social worker but if they was no social workers, where would we be?, the world be a world would not care for children the world is still is hard but with social workers and other people help like all of us we can stop the pain to children and bring happyness to the children that need it. And the familys. (we should say thank them more)
You could help make a difference to some peoples lives and you would feel your job was worthwhile to other people not just your self
You will be making a difference in someones life by either bringing their families together or helping them solve problems.
You would have the chance to work with people to make their lives better and ease them through the difficult circumstances that they are in.
